The Kelley School of Business faculty and staff work hard to provide students with the highest quality academic experiences. Faculty design courses to be challenging, demanding, and to stimulate your thinking. Advisors and other staff members strive to help students navigate their academic lives in the smoothest and most pleasant manner possible.

If you feel that you have been particularly well served, that an experience has been particularly rewarding or someone deserves some special recognition for a job well done, please complete the following and return to the address above. This information will be given to the person most responsible for providing the service being recognized. You may remain anonymous if you wish.
